"Addressing Barriers to Renewable Energy Procurement"
Webinar Registration is Open!
Wednesday, September 19, 2012
1:00-2:00 pm (EDT)

On Wednesday, September 19, 2012, from 1:00 - 2:00 pm (EDT), the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's Green Power Partnership (GPP) will host a webinar on "Addressing Barriers to Renewable Energy Procurement." The use of clean energy is a key component of many organizations' sustainability goals. However, the process of procuring renewable energy at a meaningful scale has proven to be difficult for corporations. This webinar will examine some of the common challenges including market access, deal terms, and risk management requirements that companies have encountered when trying to source clean energy for facilities or power portfolios, and present innovative solutions that large companies and organizations have followed to overcome these barriers in a meaningful and cost effective way.

The webinar will feature presentations from the co-founders of Altenex, an energy and emissions management network that helps companies to source clean energy for their power portfolios using a unique market-based approach.

Speakers include:

- Blaine Collison, Program Director, U.S. EPA's Green Power Partnership
- Charles Esdaile, Co-Founder and Managing Partner, Altenex
- Chris Hayes, Co-Founder and Managing Partner, Altenex
